Only one great reptile has survived since the age of the dinosaur and that is the crocodile. Ancient it may be, but after 70 million years the crocodile is still the most successful fresh water hunter.

Avalanches are a truly savage power on a hair trigger. Deceptively graceful, avalanches containing millions of tons of snow and ice crash down from a mountain or hillside at over one hundred miles per hour.

The eagle is an achievement in aeronautical design. It is the master of the skies, soaring over vast areas searching out its prey. Once prey is detected it can plummet down onto its victim, catching it before it can even react.
